

From: Chuck Kabala <chuckkabala@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, December 18, 2018 2:13 PM
To: General Plan <generalplan@cityofsanmateo.org>
Subject: Building height in SM

“Us 4 and no more” is something I’ve been hearing when I advocate for less building in San Mateo. This refers to a life boat, and how selfish it is to deny others a chance at life when u have been rescued. But, what if 10 people would cause the boat to sink...then no one survives. I have lived in SM for over 21 years and have seen the congestion increase. I also see empty public buses traveling on Alameda and El Camino. People are not getting out of their cars no matter how convenient u make it, and I don’t believe that we have the infrastructure to handle 10-12 stories high apartment buildings. Where will it stop?? Sincerely, Elizabeth Kabala

Sent from my iPhone