Subject: over estimating future growth

Hello,

I am seeing units and more units being built here in San Mateo city. Frankly I think your growth estimate is over exaggerated and we are already feeling the effects of traffic here. We can't go out after 2 pm just to shop and we must avoid Highway 92 where we must travel to get to stores like Smart and Final, Target, etc. I know there are plenty of vacant units in these new developments and yet you are building more and more. You are putting priority ONLY on more units and changing zones for units instead of open space. Please do not overestimate what we really need in the next 30 years. If this continues we will be moving out of this area and so will our extended families and neighbors. Are we going to turn San Mateo into San Francisco and Manhattan? I hope not.

Thank you for considering this,

Helen Young
