Message: The plan has a transit oriented focus. That may be ok for north and south travel but what are the plans to improve east and west? we are not a transit focused plan if nobody can get east and west on public transit.

we were at a district 3 meeting and there was an emotional moment with a person who owns in bay meadows. she was sad that her friends who made good money still could not afford to buy a house in san mateo. she thinks by the plans idea to add apartments that somehow that could help her friends afford homes in san mateo. she is misguided in thinking that way. nothing this plan will do help people who want to buy homes. is their any plan to do anything similar to what was done at bay meadows? or is that just not financially feasible? all i see are apartments. where are town homes being built? or are they?
